SNAP
ELIGIBILITY FOR STUDENTS HAS CHANGED!

2. NEW ELIGIBILITY IN THE PANDEMIC

The COVID relief bill passed in December 2020 expanded SNAP eligibility for college students - allowing more students to qualify without meeting work requirements. Students can now qualify for SNAP if they:

- Are eligible for work study - students do not need to have a work study position or award
- Have an Estimated Family Contribution (EFC) of $0 on the FAFSA

HOW TO QUALIFY FOR SNAP BEYOND THE PANDEMIC

Students need to let Oregon Department of Human Services (DHS) know what your intended job will be after completing your education.

During your interview with a DHS worker, you will need to share the reason you are going to school that is related to a job you want after you complete your undergraduate education (four-year program or less). This means, if you meet this criteria, there are no work requirements.

There are also other ways to qualify for SNAP as a student*, to learn more visit oregonhunger.org/snap-for-students
